Please provide your evaluation of the applicant's strengths and weaknesses insofar as they pertain to his/her ability to successfully carry out advanced study in Physics and Astronomy. The basis for your evaluation would also be appreciated, as would comments on this applicant's abilities as compared to those of other students you have known. Please be as specific as possible, with examples of unusual initiative and of research-level experiences. Performance in courses often does not correlate well with ability to carry out original research, so evidence of the latter would be very helpful to our deliberations.

Please rate the applicant in the section below, indicating your basis for comparison:
