Hey everyone:

I'm Devin Harper, a senior here in the department, and I am this year's president of the Society of Physics Students (SPS). To kick start the year, the Homer L. Dodge Dept. of Physics & Astronomy's chapter of the SPS will have its first official activity, the SPS Welcome BBQ, this Friday, September 8, from 5.00 until 8.00 on the South Oval, right outside Nielsen. We will be grilling, playing some frisbee and some volleyball, and welcoming new (and returning) faces to the department in an exciting way.

Having professors at our SPS activities is a crucial way to keep undergraduates interested and enthusiastic about what's happening here in Nielsen. As such, I would love to see all of you out on the Oval on Friday. We've got many undergraduates and many graduates geared up for this event. Your presence would really be an encouragement to many students in the department - most especially, the freshmen will love having many cordial professors in this casual setting with them. In my experience, one-on-one time with a professor, outside classes and offices, is some of the best time ever spent with a professor.

We'd love to have you out. Bring your family, bring your friends.
Remind your students. Let's kick this year off well!

Thanks, everyone. We'll see you Friday. E-mail me or Matt Johnson with any questions you might have.

Best,
Devin Harper
