Subject: General Meeting - Monday, October 2

Hello all,

A few weeks ago, you ate some BBQ. You ate it because you were interested in being part of a group on campus, the Society of Physics Students (SPS). Now, it's go time.

We will have our first general meeting on Monday, October 2, at 7.00 pm, in Nielsen Hall room 303. Most of you physics and engineering students already know this room as the Student Lounge.

At this meeting, we will discuss such things as:

- weekly and monthly activities to be sponsored by SPS
- the umpteenth annual Halloween Party
- future goals and ideas for the organization
- Beard Month (coming this November...!)
- other stuff, I'm sure...

After our formalities and discussions, we will have a special guest, Dr. Eric Abraham, give a presentation on the GRE (Graduate Record Examinations) Physics Subject Test. Those of you who are considering graduate school (any year - INCLUDING freshmen, sophomores...) should plan on attending this talk. The guidance given by Dr. Abraham has helped many to succeed in this oh-so-formidable exam. This will begin at 7.30 pm.

Bring $10 for your yearly dues (for the OU chapter) - this money helps funds activities that we'll be sponsoring throughout the year
(On that note, we can also discuss gaining membership into the national SPS)

So, there you have it:

Monday, October 2

7.00, general meeting

7.30, Dr. Abraham's GRE Talk

Thanks for your interest in SPS, and we'll see you Monday. Send any questions to me or Dr. Matt Johnson (johnson AT nhn.ou.edu)

Best,

Devin Harper
